

Academic Dishonesty

In an upcoming lesson, you will learn about CHEATING and PLAGIARISM, which are forbidden and will be punished.

However, making use of ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE is not necessarily plagiarism. In an upcoming lesson on Academic Dishonesty, you will learn how AI can help you in this (and other) college classes.

Prior to our lesson on Academic Dishonesty, you are welcome to make use of artificial intelligence (AI) in any way you wish, and no citation will be necessary. However, AFTER this lesson, you will need to make a brief citation at the conclusion of your essay. The lesson will explain how to do this.

AI will be of little use to you in your homework quizzes and summaries. In your later writing assignments is where AI will become useful.

FYI, here is the official Delta College policy on Academic Dishonesty:

(Administrative Procedure 5500, Standards of Student Conduct)

Academic dishonesty (plagiarism and cheating) consists of presenting work, words, ideas, theories, etc. derived in whole or in part from a source external to the student as though they are the student's own efforts. Examples include, but are not limited to the following:

- i. Failing to use proper citations as acknowledgment of the true source of information found in a paper, written or oral examination, or any other academic exercise.
- ii. Presenting any work completed in whole or in part by any individual or group other than the student, as though the work is the student's own, in any academic exercise.

- iii. Buying, selling, bartering, or in any other fashion obtaining or distributing material to be used fraudulently as part of any academic exercise.
- iv. Disseminating or receiving answers, data, or other information by any means other than those expressly permitted by the professor as part of any academic exercise.
- v. Copying answers, data, or other information (or allowing others to do so) during an examination, quiz, laboratory experiment, or any other academic exercise in which the student is not expressly permitted to work jointly with others.
- vi. Assuming another individual's identity or allowing another person to do so on one's own behalf for the purpose of fulfilling any academic requirement or in any way enhancing the student's grade or academic standing.
- vii. Using any device, implement, or other form of study aid during an examination, quiz, laboratory experiment, or any other academic exercise without the faculty member's permission.
